Can I merge two companies?

No, at this time, QuickBooks does not allow for two companies to be merged into one. However, if you have multiple QuickBooks accounts with different emails and want them all to live in one report, here's a remedy:

- Choose the email address you want to use for all of your companies. This can be email #1; the email you want to forget is email #2
- Sign in to one of your QuickBook companies that you login to with email 2
- Invite email 1 to the company and choose Company Admin as the user type
- Go to email 1 inbox and accept the invite

Do this for all of the accounts you want to live under email 1, and now you'll see them all in one place when you log in.
